

MAGNIFICENT EFFORT AT FINISH LANDS TWELVE IN WINNING COLUMN IN GAZETTE'S POPULARITY CONTEST

Excitement Prevails as Event Draws to Close.

MONEY FEATURE OUT

Wise Regulation Limiting Number of Years Subscription to Two Restricted Possibilities to Hardest Workers.

Nobody Secured Special Advantages and All Contestants For Prizes Treated Severely Alike Regardless of Pleas.

The above tells the story of the finish of the Gazette's popularity contest which closed Saturday evening.
In a blaze of glory, enthusiasm reaching a high point as the closing hours of the contest approached, until at the finish the most intense excitement prevailed, and all interested made rash conjectures as to the final outcome.

The final day of the contest surpassed all others in every regard, and the entire office force of the paper was busy from the opening of the doors in the morning until the ballot box was closed at nine o'clock in the evening. Subscriptions poured in at an unprecedented rate, and throughout the entire day the contestants were busy voting reserves, and preserving the list of the subscriptions which figured so much in the result.

Final Count Easy Seemingly at nine o'clock the ballot box was sealed and taken to the auditorium of the City Hall, where the final count was conducted before a good-sized audience of contestants, their friends, and many persons not directly interested in the contest. The keys to the box, which had been deposited in the Rock County National bank since the count of last Monday, were delivered to the judges, and the ballot box was opened in the presence of the remaining judges, and the contestants. The work of counting the returns was rapidly disposed of, and within a few hours the result was known.

Features of the Contest Janesville has never before witnessed an event of this sort which was conducted in such a thorough, painstaking and impartial manner as was the contest just closed, and it is to be doubted if journalistic annals contain the record of a popularity contest of this nature which can compare with the one which was conducted by this paper. The rigid restrictions which were imposed upon all, and insisted upon by the contest management without exception went far to inspire confidence in the event, and in all quarters today vociferous commendation is made of the healthy manner in which all affairs connected with the contest were disposed.

Money Feature Eliminated
The Gazette placed a wise and efficient restriction upon contestants in refusing to accept a subscription for a longer term than two years, for by so doing it was made impossible for any contestant to come to the fore at the last moment and purchase a single subscription for an extended length of time which would have netted an enormous sum of votes, and in some cases probably deprived deserving contestants of the rewards which otherwise would have been justly theirs. There have been events of this nature in which the feature of money has been prominent, and in which the prizes offered ostensibly to popular girls have in reality been awarded to those who could command the largest amount of money at the last moment.

The Gazette upon the inauguration of the contest decided to do all in its power to prevent the indiscriminate use of money, and that the management of the paper and the contest should go hand in hand in this object cannot be overstated.

Contestants' Interest Well Cared For
The interest of the respective contestants were well cared for throughout the entire time of the contest, and although the inevitable rules of the contest in many instances seemed to be unjust to the contestants themselves, yet all were treated severely alike, and all was done that could possibly be done to assist everyone to carry on a winning campaign. The services of the contest manager were at the disposal of the contestants at all times, and the benefit of his experience was extended to all.

Paper Itself Benefited
The benefits derived from the contest did not accrue to the winners alone, as the Gazette was benefited.
The number of new subscribers added to the subscription list of the paper will greatly enhance its value as an advertising medium; the widespread publicity accorded the publication can best be judged by the fact that there is scarcely a home in Janesville and adjoining counties that has not been the object of the hard-working contestants; the extreme liberality of the publishers in offering such an elegant array of prizes has awakened the admiration of everyone who has in the least followed the progress of the contest; and lastly, but by far the greatest, the fair, open, and above-board manner in which the contest has been conducted has served to lift deeper into the minds of the people of Janesville confidence

Looking backward over eight weeks of almost ceaseless endeavor, the two hundred and fifty contestants who were entered in the magnificent struggle for reward can see wherein they have benefited in more ways than one. Those who strove to reach the top and failed can be consoled with the thought that in falling they did what many another has done, though they have gained much through fail-made and old friends secured more firmly should be a source of never-ending satisfaction to all concerned.

Contest Management Commendable

PLAY FOR AMATEUR CHAMPIONSHIP TODAY

Fifteen Annual Tournament Under Auspices Of United States Ass'n Began In Chicago.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Chicago, Sept. 6.—The biggest event in the golfing world to be held in the West this year began today on the links of the Chicago Golf Club at Wheaton and will continue through the week. It is the fifteenth annual amateur championship tournament under the auspices of the United States Golf association.

In recent years there has not been an amateur championship so devoid of at least one or two strong favorites for the title as is the present tournament. Jerome D. Travers, the president of the association, is something of an unknown quantity at present. He has been very much in the background, so far as golf is concerned, since he retired from his unsuccessful trip abroad in quest of the British amateur title. Walter J. Travis, titleholder of the Metropolitan Golf association and next to Travers the most prominent amateur in the country, has not been playing with such pronounced success this season in the past, and consequently it is difficult to foretell how he will figure in the present tournament. Other prominent entries from the East include Max Behr, the New Jersey State champion; Buckingham P. Merriam, the Connecticut champion; Fred Hornerhoff, George T.
Brokaw, James G. Anderson and John M. Ward.

In Chicago golfing circles the prevalent belief is that one of the brilliant young players of this section, like Charles Evans, Jr., the eighteen-year-old boy who recently won the Western Golf association championship, or H. Chandler Egan, a past Western as well as national champion, will take the title this year. With Travers and Travis holding none of their old torments, the West is of the opinion that the remainder of the Eastern contin-gent of titleholders can be taken care of successfully. In the five holes that the championship has been held in the West, it has been won three times by players from this part of the country and both times that it has been played at the Chicago Golf club a Western golfer has been the winner.

In addition to the stirring Chicago contest the West is represented among the entries by such noted players as Harry Legg, the Trans-Mississippi champion; Arthur Swickney, of St. Louis; Will Dillard, four-times champion of Indiana; Harold Webster, the former and J. K. Dole, the present Ohio titleholder, and A. D.
Standish, Jr., the Michigan champion.
The Pacific Coast, Texas and the South also have sent their banner men, making the contest a truly national one in character.
The tournament began today with eighteen holes of medal play, sixty-four players to qualify, and will continue through tomorrow morning, with scores for the thirty-six holes on the two rounds will qualify for the championship. Match play will begin with an eighteen hole round tomorrow afternoon, all the other matchplay to the final being at thirty-six holes. The winner will be proclaimed champion of the year. He will receive a gold medal and his club will have the custody for a year of the championship cup. The runner-up will receive the association's silver and the semi finalists similar bronze medals.

EXTRA PEARY REACHES NORTH POLE

Dispatch Says Flag Is Nailed There Evidently by Him.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Indian Harbor via Cape Ray, N. F., Sept. 6th.—Peary reports the "Stars and Stripes" are nailed to the North Pole.

Official
London, Sept. 6.—The Reuters Tel-graph company has received the following, dated Indian Harbor, via wireless telegraph to Cape Ray, N. F.: "The Stars and Stripes are nailed to the North Pole."

Is Satisfied
Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 6.—Admiral Peary, who informed of the text of the Associated Press dispatch from Lieut. Peary, said:

"If Peary has telegraphed the Associated Press that he has found the Pole, I believe it and say 'Bully for him.'"

IS RECOGNIZED BY ALL SWEDEN AS DISCOVERER

King of Sweden Congratulates United States on Dr.
Cook's Work.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 6.—The King of Sweden officially recognized Dr. Cook as the discoverer of the North Pole. Minister Egan at Cop-penhagen informed the State Department yesterday's date, in effect that the King, through the Swedish minister at Copenhagen, has congratulated the government of the United States on the occasion of Dr. Cook's discovery.

Pope Confident Rome, Sept. 6.—The Pope today, in speaking of Cook's achievement, expressed as his opinion one must be deeply in the truthfulness of the man whose character had been tried by such perils and who had faced death alone.

TWO GREAT STATE FAIRS OPEN TODAY

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 6.—The annual Minnesota State Fair, bigger and better than any heretofore held in this state, was formally opened today with addresses by Senator Knute Nelson and Bishop Robert McIntyre.
The opening exercises were combined with the celebration of Labor day by the St. Paul and Minneapolis labor unions.

Every department of the big fair is crowded with choice exhibits this year. Especially notable are the displays of horses, live stock, sheep, swine and agricultural products.
Forty thousand dollars will be distributed in premiums. The program of harness races will begin tomorrow.
Indiana State Fair Opens Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 6.—The largest and what is hoped to be the most successful state fair of Indiana opened here today under the most promising auspices. The premium list reaches a total of $75,250, nearly double the amount ever offered before in any similar event in this state. The number of exhibits in the various departments is unusually large and every previous record has been broken in the number and importance of the entries for the racing events of the week.

SCHOOL DAYS ARE AT HAND.
Vacation—Good-bye!

NATIONAL UNION OF CATHOLIC YOUNG MEN

Organization For Promotion Of Various Young Men's Interests Holds Convention In Boston.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Boston, Mass., Sept. 6.—The Catholic Young Men's National Union, which organizes parochial Catholic clubs for young men, for the promotion of literary, educational, athletic, social and kindred interests opened its thirty-fifth annual convention in this city today, with headquarters at the Hotel Brunswick. The opening of the business meeting of the convention, which will be in session two days, was preceded by a pontifical high mass at the Cathedral of the Holy Cross, celebrated by Archbishop O'Connell. The convention program calls for papers and addresses by many prominent clergy and laymen. The report for the past year, incorporated in the annual address of the President, Michael J. Shattory, of Philadelphia, shows the organization to be in a prosperous condition. New connections have been established in Baltimore, Boston, Wilmington, Philadelphia, Toledo, Trenton, Fayetteville and Lowell, and plans are under way for the establishment of branches in Pittsburgh and Buffalo.
One of the most important acts of the convention will be the completion of an alliance with the Young Men's Institute, a western body, similar in character to the National Union. This will make the allied body the strongest and largest organization of this kind in the country.

Part Of Course Of Races Of Lowell Automobile Club Will Be Over Road Used Hundred Years.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Lowell, Mass., Sept. 6.—The great national auto racing carnival on the famous Merrimack Valley course, under the auspices of the Lowell Automobile Club and sanctioned by the American Automobile association, by the rules of which the various races are to be governed, opened here today with an unusually large number of entries and under the most auspicious conditions. The racing meet which will continue until and including Friday, has attracted thousands of automobile owners, manufacturers and dealers and a large number of racing enthusiasts to this city and the hotels and boarding houses are taxed to their full capacity.

The preparations are as nearly perfect as they could be made and, as a great many spectators are expected to take the short run from New York or Boston to Lowell from day to day, special arrangements have been made for the accommodation of these visitors, with special reference to their transfer from the trains to the race course.
The Merrimack Valley course, probably the most famous of its kind in the country, is situated in the town of Tyngsboro, Mass. The start of the 10.6 miles circuit is upon the highway of the city's magnificent boulevard, which extends along the bank of the Merrimack River until it is merged in the state highway that extends to New Hampshire. Five miles up the river there is a sweeping curve which has become known as the "Hairpin Turn" which is the beginning of a slight rise with woodland on each side of the road. This back stretch is an old turnpike road that has done service since colonial days and passes through a sparsely settled district. The grandstand is so placed that it affords a good view of both legs of the track. In addition to the "Hairpin Turn" there is but one difficult point on the whole course, a sharp declivity on the home stretch.

The meet began this morning with three national small stock champions, 125, 150 and 212 miles, for the Vesper club, York club and the Merrimack Valley trophies and $2,500 in cash prizes. Tomorrow there will be speed trials, mile straightaway with eleven classes for trophies and trials for records. Wednesday the national stock classes race, 318 miles, for the Lowell trophy and $2,100 in cash prizes will be held; on Thursday the National Marathon run over the Merrimack circuit in the morning and motorboat races on the river and athletic sports in the afternoon. On Friday the meet will close with six races for motorcycles under the rules of the Federation of American Motorcyclists, for $600 in prizes.

More than fifty racers have been entered for the national road race, which will be the chief event of the week and nearly all the noted drivers will take part in the event.

New York, Sept. 6.—An afternoon that E. H. Harriman has suffered a relapse late last night and that for a time his condition was very serious. An inquiry at Harriman's home was without result, inquiries be-

New Hampshire Golf association opened today on the links of the In-

POSTOFFICE CLERKS AT WATERING PLACE

Tenth Meeting Of National Order At Atlantic City—Supervisory Officials At Chicago.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 6.—The tenth annual convention of the United National Association of Postoffice Clerks began here today with an attendance of nearly four hundred delegates. President Frank T. Rogers of Chicago presided.
The program of the four days' session shows that there is much business to be transacted. Among the important matters to be considered is the enactment of some measure whereby all postoffice clerks of the $1,100 grade will benefit by the automatic promotion system, instead of but half of them, as was the case this year on account of the lack of funds in the postoffice department. A plan to secure an increase in the annual vacation period from 15 to 20 days will also be discussed. Civil service reform in pensions, unnecessary Sunday work and the eight-hour day are other matters that will receive attention.

Supervisory Postoffice Officials.
Chicago, Sept. 6.—The annual convention of the National association of Supervisory Postoffice Officials began in Chicago today and will continue until Thursday. The organization is composed of men working in supervisory capacities in the postal service in all the large cities of the country.
L. E. Palmer, of Pittsburgh, is president of the association.

SEATTLEITES FLOCK TO THE FAIR TODAY

Stores and Factories Shut Down and People Of City Celebrated Seattle Day At Exposition.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 6.—It was not a great while after the exposition grounds opened to the public, and before they were well populated, and before noon they were thronged so that one had to allow his way along—for it was Seattle Day. For weeks past the exposition management and the business men of Seattle had been preparing for the celebration, with a view to making it the banner day of the big fair. Stores and factories throughout the city closed down to permit the employees to attend, and early in the day it was evident that all attendance records to date would go by the board before the day was over.

A special program filled with attractive features was prepared for the entertainment of the thousands of visitors. It included a fraternal and military parade, a basket picnic, receptions, a parade of historical floats showing Seattle's progress, an international festival chorus, sports in the Stadium, band concerts, a Mardi Gras on the Pay Streak, dances and fireworks.

Ecorse, down in the river suburb. The head, arms and legs could not be found. It was impossible to identify the body.

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.

New York, Sept. 6.—Labor Day, which is now generally observed in every important center of population in the United States, is an institution of comparatively recent origin. The first Labor Day celebration ever held was on the first Monday in September, 1881, in New York City. The general assembly of the Knights of Labor was in session at that time and a parade of twenty thousand members was reviewed by the general officers in Union Square. It was on that occasion that the name, "Labor Day," was first used.

Master Workman Powderly was standing in the reviewing stand with General Worthy Foreman Griffith, a veteran in the labor movement. Robert Price, a coal miner, and a member of the assembly of the Knights, watched the parade for a few minutes and then, slapping Griffith on the back, said: "Well, Jack, this is Labor Day all right, isn't it?"

That remark, overheard by George M. Lloyd of the New York Central labor union, led him to introduce a resolution in his local, setting aside the first Monday in September as a day to celebrate labor's progress. He took his resolution to the New York legislature. While it was pending there, Oregon, with fewer than a thousand trade unionists, although first to propose a law, was second to enact one. Now practically all the states have Labor Day laws. The national government in 1894 recognized the day and congress in a resolution fixed the first Monday in September as a day when all work would be suspended and employees and employers would get together to discuss their general welfare.

As Labor Day was originally set aside to celebrate from year to year the progress of organized labor, it may be interesting to review the history and development of labor organizations in this country. The first definitive record of a labor organization dates back to 1803, when the Shipwrights' society of New York was formed. There were some attempts of organizing the members of several crafts in Boston, New York and other cities long before that time, but they were of a purely local character, and not enduring or large enough to become important. In 1866 the tailors and the carpenters followed the example of the shipbuilders and organized. During the following four or five decades many other labor unions were formed.

To the printers may be given the credit for the formation of the first union of modern type. In 1852 the National Labor Union, a sort of federation of labor unions, was organized.
Its field became political immediately and it was only three years later that the Knights of Labor, with Terence V.
Powderly at its head, first dared to manifest itself. The Knights of Labor was primarily a lodge of workmen.
Its principles and purposes were not much like those of the American Federation of Labor as it exists today.
The Knights of Labor drifted into politics and this sealed the doom of the organization. When in 1893 Powderly resigned from the presidency, the membership of the organization had dwindled from nearly a million to practically nothing.

The American Federation of Labor arose as the Knights of Labor fell.
At a convention in Columbus, Ohio, in 1886, the American Federation of Labor, then five years old, resolved into its membership about nine-tenths of the disappointed members of the Knights of Labor. The purpose of the American Federation of Labor was to bind together the men of the various trades and crafts and then federate them into a great central body. No social or lodge or brotherhood features were incorporated in the new organization's constitution and by-laws.

The Federation of Labor was organized in 1881. Samuel Gompers was its first president and has held that position ever since with the exception of two years when John McBride, a miner, defeated him for the honor.
The organ of the federation, of which Gompers is the editor, is the American Federationist.

The growth of unionism in the United States has been marvelous during the past thirty years. At the present time the labor unions in America have a greater membership than ever before in the history of the labor movement. In the American Federation of Labor there are now affiliated about 120 national and international labor unions representing approximately 30,000 local labor unions. The number of State Federations of Labor is about 40 and there are nearly 600 central city labor bodies and more than 600 local trade and labor unions.
In the aggregate more than 2,000,000 are members of the body or are affiliated with it. Outside the American Federation of Labor are the plasterers and bricklayers, the trainmen's union, such as locomotive engineers, firemen and switchmen, and a few others, in all about 600,000.

DO YOU USE IT AT HOME?

If not, 'tis time you were.
Electric light in the home will make it far more comfortable and enjoyable for it will give a much better light than that obtainable by any other lighting system.
The fire risk is reduced, there being no lighted matches, etc., to throw on the floor—and the cost is about the same in the end.
No soot, discolored ceilings, walls, etc., where electricity is used for lighting.
Could our solicitor call and explain?

PREMIUM LIST OF EVANSVILLE FAIR

AWARDS OF JUDGES IN ALL THE DEPARTMENTS.

EXHIBITS WERE SPLENDID

And Size and Variety of Things Shown Made It A Very Hard Thing For The Judges
To Decide.

(Special to the Gazette.) Evansville, Wis., Sept. 6.—The Rock County Fair held here last week is over but all who attended it have pronounced it a grand success and by far the best of any yet held in this city. In all ways the fair far exceeded former fairs in the number of exhibitors and the excellence and quality of all the exhibits. In the lines of live stock and the fine arts, the number of entries were more than was expected by the management and the space was over crowded. In all other lines, there was a keen rivalry among the exhibitors, and the judges in selecting the best from among so many excellent things shown was by no means an easy one, but their judgments have been entirely fair and equitable and highly pleasing to all.
The list of premiums is as follows:

Horses.
Draft team, mares or geldings, to weigh 3,000 pounds or more—Wm. Miller, 1st; Fred Krueger, 2nd; L.
H. Jones and Sons, 3rd.

The Birth of a Whistle

Compared with the guttural "cough" of the motor-car's warning signal, the whistle emitted by a railway engine is musical. Seventy-five years ago, however, this shrill note was unknown and a provincial contemporary reminds us that engine drivers of a former generation kept by their sides a tin horn, which they blew before negotiating curves and dangerous crossings. But the noise thus made was feeble. In 1833 an English farmer's cart was run down on the way to market and 1,000 eggs, 100 pounds of butter, two horses and a man were destroyed by the engine. The railway had to pay damages. The managing director went for George Stephenson and said angrily, "Our drivers can't blow their horns loudly enough to clear the tracks ahead. You have made your steam do so much, why don't you make it blow a good loud horn for us?" Stephenson pondered. An idea came to him. He visited a musical instrument maker and had constructed a horn that gave a horrible screech when blown by steam. From this horn the locomotive whistle of today has been evolved.

The Longest Wire

A "world's record" for long-distance telegraphy was established when the direct transmission of messages between London and India was begun. The extreme distance over which a message was flashed without interruption and repetition was about 7,000 miles.
The line of wires that carried these messages was recently completed by the filling up of the gap between Tcheran and Karachi. The Wheatstone system of automatic transmission is used throughout the line.

ANSWER SERVED UPON MAXFIELD BY THE COMPANY

FIRST STEP ON PART OF BLA-GONS TO STOP FIGHT AGAINST STREET RAILWAY.

DENIES ANY JURISDICTION

Says That State Railway Commission Has No Jurisdiction in the Matter.

City Attorney Maxfield this morning received the answer of the Janesville Street Railway Company in the matter of the complaint recently served upon them in behalf of the city by Mr. Maxfield, Jeffrey, Mount, Smith and Avery are the attorneys for the company and they enter a complete denial of all charges brought and also of jurisdiction of the railroad commission in the matter. The answer is as follows:

"The respondent, Janesville Street Railway company, answering the petition of H. L. Maxfield, shows to the commission:

"(1). Respondent admits that H. L. Maxfield is the city attorney of the city of Janesville.

"(2). Respondent admits that it is doing business under a franchise granted by the city of Janesville.

"(3). Respondent denies each and every allegation in the third paragraph of the petition.

"(4). Respondent denies each and every allegation in the fourth paragraph of the petition.

"(5). Respondent denies each and every allegation in the sixth paragraph of the petition.

"(6). Respondent denies each and every allegation in the sixth paragraph of the petition.

"(7). Respondent declines to make any comment or answer as to the seventh paragraph of the petition.

"(8). Respondent alleges that the commission has no right or authority to consider or grant any part of the petition herein.

"Wherefore Respondent asks that the petition be dismissed.

"JANESVILLE STREET RAILWAY COMPANY.

"By Jeffrey, Mount, Smith & Avery, Attorneys."

This is the first step in the contest which was begun several weeks ago by the city attorney to start proceedings with a view of either compelling the company to conform with the ordinances or have their franchise revoked. It is probable that suit will be begun in the circuit court very shortly.

PLEADED GUILTY TO A VAGRANCY CHARGE

Frank Frazier, Negro Charged With Attempting to Pass Forged Check, to Stay in Jail.

Frank Frazier, the colored man who was arrested for attempting to cash an alleged worthless check and also accused of attempting to steal a horse from Edward Parker's farm, pleaded guilty to a vagrancy charge in municipal court this morning and was committed to the county jail for three days. The history of the check has not yet been obtained nor have the officers found that Frazier is wanted elsewhere for any offense.

THREE HUNDRED AT SEVERAL PICNICS

CHURCH CEREMONY SATURDAY NIGHT

MISS ELISABETH McKEY WEDDED TO CHARLES B. QUARLES.

RECEPTION & DANCE FOLLOW

Mr. and Mrs. Quarles Will Make Their Home in Milwaukee—Left in Auto for Wedding Trip.

One of the prettiest weddings of the season was held at Christ Episcopal church on Saturday evening last at eight o'clock, when Miss Elisabeth McKee became the bride of Charles B. Quarles of Milwaukee.

Reverend Thomas MacLean of Joliet, Ill., former rector of Trinity church and an intimate friend of the bride's family, officiated, assisted by Reverend John McKee.

The church had been most tastefully decorated with roses and palms for the event and the bride was preceded by her two ribbon-bearers—Miss Evelyn Nideken of Milwaukee and Miss Florence Palmer of Janesville. They were attired in white lingerie gowns with green sashes, and stretched the long white ribbon down the aisle ahead of the bride.

The bridesmaids were Miss Ethel Quarles of Milwaukee, sister of the groom, Miss Josephine McKee of Chicago, and Miss Constance Elliot of Batavia, Illinois. They were gowned in green messaline trimmed with gold passementerie, carrying bouquets of maidenhair fern tied with green chiffon.

The maid of honor was Miss Juliette Postwick of Janesville, who was handsomely gowned in a green messaline trimmed with gold and duchess lace and wearing a short veil of white tulle held in place with green ostrich tips. Her bouquet was also maidenhair fern tied with a white chiffon ribbon.

The four ushers were Albert Cannon of Milwaukee, Walter Underwood and Frank Vowburgh of Oak Park, Illinois, and Douglas McKee, a brother of the bride. All were fraternity brothers of the groom and students at the University.

The bride was escorted to the altar on the arm of her father—George M. McKee. She was gowned in white satin trimmed with a pearl embroidered panel and rose point lace. Her bridal veil held a cluster of orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the Valley and maidenhair fern.

At the altar they were met by the groom and his brother—Henry Quarles—who acted as best man, and the beautiful wedding service of the Episcopal church was read and the solemn vows taken and bound with the wedding ring.

Immediately following the church ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, followed by a collation and dance in a specially constructed pavilion built adjacent to the house on the spacious lawn. The decorations through the house and dancing pavilion followed the green and white color scheme. Thompson's orchestra from Madison furnished inspiration for the dance, which continued long after the bride and groom had slipped away in the groom's big touring car for their wedding trip.

The upper hall of the house was arranged so that the many costly and handsome wedding presents could be seen by the guests and the upper was served in the dining room at small tables or in the dance pavilion from a buffet.

Favors of dainty white wedding bells were given the guests. Mr. and Mrs. Quarles will be at home to their friends at their home, 255 Oakland avenue, Milwaukee, after November first.

Both the bride and groom are graduates of the University with the class of 1937. Mrs. Quarles being prominent in social life and a member of the Delta Gamma sorority. The groom was a member of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity and is practicing law in Milwaukee.

What Uncle Sam is doing for labor. First American labor parliament with many notable labor leaders and the bureau of labor building. (By Walden Fawcett.)

Washington, Sept. 6.—While endeavoring to "steer clear" of anything that would savor of paternalism, the United States government is exerting efforts in various directions in behalf of the laboring classes. These activities have expanded considerably since the establishment of the department of commerce and labor a few years ago. The bureau of labor is the branch of this new department most conspicuous in promoting the welfare of the toiling masses. Its officials have been particularly energetic in recent years in investigating the causes of disputes between employers and employees and many strikes have been settled as a result of the exercise of the good offices of Labor Commissioner Neill and his assistants. The bureau is also doing a great work in compiling reliable information showing the earnings of men and women in all trades, the hours of labor, etc. Another government service of labor is the division of information of the United States immigration service. This is in charge of the famous ex-laborer, Theodore V. Powderly, and its aim is to find out in what sections of the country labor is in demand and direct thither the tide of wandering workers which the labor leaders of all national organizations exchanged ideas with the government officials having to do with labor matters. Finally, Uncle Sam is seeking to look out for the material welfare of the toilers on his own pay roll as well as without provision at government expense of a splendid "emergency room" or first aid hospital for the free use of all sick or injured employees of the government printing office.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janeville Daily Gazette, September 6, 1860.—A handsome job of painting of the lapidary of the new Congregational church is fast approaching completion and it is expected the whole will be finished the present week. The work is most beautiful and is an imitation of ash and black walnut with all finish. Notwithstanding these gentlemen have had a hard contract it has been carried out in the best possible style and without flinching in the least.

Religious.—At the sacrament of the Presbyterian Church, yesterday, twelve persons were admitted to church membership on profession of faith and two by letter.

Pardoned.—J. L. Darling, who was sentenced to three years' imprisonment by Judge Lyon, for forgery, has been pardoned by the Governor. He had ten months yet to serve.

The Weather.—A fully flavored and its chilliness puts one in mind of the eight or nine months of winter in store for us. Thermometer indicated a temperature of 55 this afternoon.

Harry It Up.—It is very desirable indeed that the Nicholson pavement on West Milwaukee street should be completed in time for the stock county fair which takes place next week. Slip on the tar, lively, gentlemen.

Death Of An Old Settler.—We learn from Mr. A. M. Carter, of the death of Mr. Norton Waters of Johnstown who was buried yesterday. He was 71 years of age, came originally from Herkimer Co., New York. He was one of the oldest settlers of the county, and has seen much of its development.

New Firm.—Mr. James A. Webb has associated with him in business Mr. Augustus F. Hall, recently from Rochester, N. Y. Mr. H. is a practical jeweler, and at his former place of residence enjoyed the esteem of all who knew him.

Incense Burning.—There are some men who expect the same incense from the world as they get from their wives—but then their wives get all the gowns and hats, and the public doesn't. Incense burning is a domestic and business combination.—Florida Times-Union.

Real Deep Sea Fish.

In the beginning of the last century, halibut emigrated to deeper and deeper waters, until they are now caught in depths of 150 to 350 fathoms, in deep sea valleys. Halibut capture is a dangerous business. The fish are often found with strokes of the tail, weighing 44 pounds, was over two feet long and contained more than 2,000,000 eggs, says Prof. Davis Starr Jordan.

In the beginning of the last century, halibut emigrated to deeper and deeper waters, until they are now caught in depths of 150 to 350 fathoms, in deep sea valleys. Halibut capture is a dangerous business. The fish are often found with strokes of the tail, weighing 44 pounds, was over two feet long and contained more than 2,000,000 eggs, says Prof. Davis Starr Jordan.

"Must have steam by 4 p. m. to-day to sail on long voyage. Coming next train. Owner in hurry. Send ashore for my wash, Brown, Captain."

When the clocks struck five on shore that afternoon, and the man at the wheel struck two bells from the wheelhouse, and the look forward repeated them on the ship's bell, all according to the most approved modern fashion on large steamers, the beautiful Lancashire Lass was steaming out upon Southampton water.

Out of the merest curiosity Mr. Van Torp telegraphed to Cowes to be informed of the exact moment at which his yacht was under way, and before six o'clock he had a message.

"Yacht sailed at 4:30."

The new owner was so much pleased that he actually smiled, for Capt. Brown had been 21 minutes better than his word.

"I guess he'll do," thought Mr. Van Torp. "Only hope I may need him."

He was not at all sure that he should need the Lancashire Lass and Capt. Brown; but it has often been noticed that in the lives of born financiers even their caprices often turn out to their advantage, and that their least logical impulses in business matters are worth more than the sober judgment of ordinary men.

As for Capt. Brown, he was a quiet little person with a rather pink face and sparkling blue eyes, and he knew his business. In fact he had passed an extra master. He knew that he was in the service of one of the richest men in the world, and that he commanded a vessel likely to turn out one of the finest yachts afloat, and he did not mean to lose such a berth either by plying up his ship, or by being slow to do whatever his owner wished done, within the boundaries of the possible; but it had not occurred to him that his owner might order him to exceed the limits of anything but mere possibility, such, for instance, as those of the law, civil, criminal, national, or international.

Mr. Van Torp had solid nerves, but when he had sent his yacht to the only place where he thought he might possibly make use of it, he realized that he was wanting valuable time while Logothetis was making all the running, and his uncommon natural energy, finding nothing to work upon as yet, made him furiously impatient. It seemed to him and sink in his head, like the steam in an express engine when it is waiting to start.

He had come over to England on an impulse, as soon as he had heard of Cordova's engagement. Until then he had not believed that she would ever accept the Greek, and when he learned from Lady Maun's letter that the fact was announced, he "saw red," and his resolution to prevent the marriage was made then and there. He had no idea how he should carry it out, but he knew that he must either succeed or come to grief in the attempt, for as long as he had any money left, or any strength, he would spend both lavishly for that one purpose.

Yet he did not know how to begin, and his lack of imagination exasperated him beyond measure. He was sleepless and lost his appetite, which had never happened to him before; he stayed on in London instead of going down to his place in Derbyshire, he

OPERATION HER ONLY CHANCE

Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Adrian, Ga.—"I suffered untold misery from a female weakness and disease, and I could not stand more than a minute at a time. My doctor said an operation was the only chance I had, and I dreaded it almost as much as death. One day I was reading in another paper an advertisement for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and decided to try it. Before I had taken one bottle I was better, and now I am completely cured."—LENA V. HENRY, Route No. 3, Adrian, Ga.

Why will women take chances with an operation or drug out as likely, half-hearted experiment, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion, and nervous prostration.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be absolutely confidential, and the advice free.

Making Money On the Farm

XIII.—Poultry Parasites and Diseases
By C. V. GREGORY.
Author of "Home Course in Modern Agriculture"

Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association

THE most discouraging thing about the poultry business is the great number of parasites and ailments which affect the flock. Unless special precautions are taken the fowls are continually dying from one cause or another, and the profits shrink correspondingly. Most of these troubles are easily preventable if a little care is taken. One of the most important considerations is cleanliness. The house should be cleaned out frequently and sprinkled with quicklime or some disinfectant. Lime scattered about the yards also helps. The coups and smaller buildings should be moved from place to place frequently. Whitewash should be used liberally everywhere. One of the best kinds of whitewash is made according to what is known as the government formula, as follows:

Black half a bushel of lime in boiling water. Strain and add a peck of salt that has been dissolved in warm water, three pounds of ground rice boiled to a thin paste, one-half pound powdered Spanish whiting, one pound of glue dissolved in warm water. Mix these well and then let the mixture stand for several days. Heat before using and apply hot.

Importance of Pure Water.

One important means of keeping fowls healthy and one that is often neglected is giving them a constant supply of pure water. Because fowls do not require water in as large quantities as other animals it is often thought that they can get along without any except what they get in puddles in the barnyard. They will drink such water if they can get no other, but it is just as bad for their health as it would be for yours. This is a matter which is too often overlooked, and poultry raising for profit becomes impossible on that account.

Water put out in open troughs soon becomes warm and dirty, and if there should happen to be a contagious disease in the flock it will be rapidly spread through the water. A common hog waterer attached to a barrel on the shady side of the poultry house is one of the best ways of supplying water. If filled once a week or so no further attention is needed. A jug or large bottle of water inverted over a shallow pan in such a manner that the opening is just covered by the water in the pan makes a good drinking fountain. The water will run down into the pan as fast as it is used. There are several types of metal fountains on the market which work on this same principle. Most of them are cheap and satisfactory.

A considerable factor in causing disease among fowls is improper feeding. Overfeeding and feeding too much soft food are the causes of a large percentage of the deaths among young chicks. In older fowls the error often that is so often the sole food is frequently the cause of digestive and other troubles. A variety of foods judiciously fed will do much to keep the fowls healthy.

Another cause of disease in unhealthy surroundings. Low, damp poultry yards, where the water stands in puddles for days after each rain, are prolific sources of poultry troubles. Have the poultry house high and dry. If a dry yard cannot be obtained in any other way grade it up a little and cover it with gravel.

Strong Vitality Necessary.

Many of the diseases which poultry is subject are due to inherited weakness. Experiments have proved that vitality and vigor are really transmitted from parent to offspring. In an experiment at the Cornell station two pens of fowls were selected. One had especially strong vitality, and the other was only medium in this respect. The progeny of each of these pens was given the same kind of feed and care, and in the fall the results were tabulated. It was found that the chickens from the strong vitality pens matured from three to four weeks earlier and were worth 25 cents apiece more at maturity. It is this lack of selection for vitality that causes so many of the fancy varieties to run out. Vitality is the most important single point to be looked to in poultry raising, especially in selecting fowls for the breeding pen. If such selection is made, the health and vigor of the flock will be greatly improved and the losses correspondingly decreased.

Contagious Diseases.

Poultry is subject to a few contagious diseases, which often wipe out almost the entire flock. These diseases, like contagious diseases of man, are caused by bacteria or germs. These are tiny cells which gain entrance to the body and grow there. Death is not caused by the germs themselves, but by certain poisons which they give off. After germs gain entrance to the body they are difficult to combat, since anything that will kill the germ will usually kill the fowl also. Germs cannot gain a foothold in a perfectly healthy bird; hence one of the best means of combating contagious diseases is by keeping the flock so healthy that they cannot get a start. Another important measure is the liberal use of disinfectants about the poultry house and yards. Plenty of sunshine in the poultry house will help to keep it clean. Selling off the old stock before it becomes feeble and useless is a great help, since it is these old birds that are the first to succumb to unfavorable conditions.

One of the most serious of these contagious diseases is cholera. Its symptoms are great thirst, listlessness and yellowish or greenish droppings. Herd measures are needed to stamp out this disease. All sick fowls should be killed and burned. The yards and houses should be thoroughly sprinkled with some disinfectant solution. A coal tar dip mixture in good, or carbolic acid may be used at the rate of one gallon to twenty gallons of water. The drinking water should be disinfected by adding one part of corrosive sublimate to every 2,000 parts of water. There is no way to cure the fowls after they once get the disease. All that can be hoped for is to save the well ones.

Probably the most common poultry disease is roup. This is really a germ disease, but the germs cannot well get a foothold except under special conditions. These are found when the birds catch cold. The germs work mostly in the nasal passages, causing a cheesy secretion that has a very disagreeable odor. The head swells, the eyes often being swollen entirely shut. An affected bird may live for a long time and sometimes even get well, but it is seldom worth anything. The treatment consists in killing the affected birds and removing the cause. Exposure to cold and dampness is among the chief causes. A dry, warm house, especially one with a curtain front to provide for plenty of ventilation without drafts, is one of the best preventive measures. The curtailed roosting apartment also helps to keep the fowls from catching cold in severe weather.

Lice and Mites.

The most troublesome parasites of poultry are lice and mites. These pests are very different in their habits. The lice remain on the bird all the time, eating the feathers and skin. They are not usually present in large enough numbers to do any considerable damage, except to sitting hens and small chicks. One of the most effective means of combating lice is the dust bath. This is simply a convenient sized box filled with the dust in which the hens can roll. Lice and other insects breathe through tiny holes along the sides of their bodies. The dust fills these holes, and they die of suffocation. A little turpentine added to the dust bath makes it more effective.

The dust treatment is usually all that is required to keep the lice in check. Where they get unusually bad pyrethrum or tobacco dust blown in among the feathers is effective. This plan takes too long to be used extensively, however. Lice frequently make their way from the hen to the chicks at hatching time and often cause the death of many of them. The best way to prevent this, of course, is to see that the hens are free from lice before the chickens hatch. One of the best remedies is to dust the chicks with insect powder or paint them around the neck and under the wings with a sulphur and lard mixture.

Mites are much worse pests than lice. They live in the crevices in the walls and roosts, attacking the fowls at night. They do not suck the blood, but bore through it and eat the flesh. Mites are so small that they can hardly be seen with the naked eye, but the damage they do is not measured by their size. Half the so-called diseases to which poultry are subject are caused by mites. When fowls are sick and die without any apparent cause it is time to look for mites. Painting the roosts and adjacent walls thoroughly with crude petroleum or kerosene will destroy many of them. The same treatment should also be applied to coops and nest boxes. The litter under the roosts is often a breeding place for mites. It should be cleaned out frequently and hauled away. After cleaning out, the floor should be thoroughly soaked with a strong solution of some coal tar dip. If the poultry house is fairly tight burning sulphur in it will effectively destroy all mites within reach of the fumes. Keeping vermin and disease in check requires considerable work and constant vigilance, but it is work that will be well repaid in the improved health of the flock.

Simple Test for Tinware.

Tin is a metal which, like copper, accelerates the corrosion of iron by aiding in the oxidation of the hydrogen set free by the reaction, says William F. Walker in the Engineering Magazine. If, therefore, in the manufacture of the so-called tin plate, which is sheet iron or steel covered with a layer of metallic tin, there may be imperfections or pin holes in the tin coating, these channels through the tin to the iron will become centers of corrosion which rapidly destroy the plate.

It is impossible to detect these imperfections by a simple inspection, and hence users of tin plate have been unable to test the quality of their raw material from this point of view. Since the iron must pass into solution at these exposed points in the tin coating, their presence may be easily located by flowing upon the tin surface a solution of gelatin or glue in which is dissolved some potassium ferriyanide. When the jelly has stiffened the iron will pass into solution through the holes in the tin, and leaving a bright blue spot in the jelly. Variations in the quality of tin plate may thus be easily detected.

Experiments in southern Burma with Virginia and Havana tobacco have proven a practical failure.

Hotel's Private Liner.
Weary of listening to the complaints of his patrons touching the difficulty of securing adequate or even comfortable steamship accommodations during the rush season to Europe, the manager of one of New York's big hotels proposes to solve the difficulty by running his own private liner for the benefit of his customers.

The craft is a large luxurious, snug-looking yacht, the ocean counterpart, as far as possible, of the land establishment on Fifth avenue, and each passenger will feel that he or she is crossing in a personally owned yacht. The cost is estimated at not more than 15 per cent. above usual rates.

CONTINUES TO WORK WONDERS IN JANESVILLE.

BUT THIS WEEK WILL BE THE LAST OF DEMONSTRATION.

It is absurd to doubt the great merits of Root Juice as proofs of its wonderful health-promoting merits can be found in scores of homes here in Janesville and vicinity. It has undoubtedly proved to be the world's greatest healing tonic to the stomach, bowels, bladder, liver and kidneys. No weak, sickly man or woman can afford to wait another day without getting some of the great medicine, as a few doses usually create marked improvement and from the experience of many local people the soothing, healing and strengthening action of the remedy is so rapid that it is absolutely wonderful. Dozens of people have so reported at the Reliable Drug Co.'s drug store within the last few days. We are informed that the demonstrations will positively close at this point next Saturday night (until the close of the demonstration the Juice will be sold for one dollar a bottle or three bottles for two dollars and a half.

BANK AGENT ASSISTS CUPID IN INTERNATIONAL MARRIAGE
Miss Virginia Bogue the Prettiest Girl in California sought by Italian Nobleman.

San Francisco.—If you had the fullest extent, the corner of an illustrious family and has in every way lived up to his honorable name and standards.

Such is the unromantic wedding of Miss Virginia Bogue of San Francisco acknowledged to be the prettiest girl in the state of California. Miss Bogue has traveled widely and it was while in Italy that she first met the unknown titled nobleman whose family is so interested in her "financial, moral and social standing." It seems that if she qualifies through the clearing house the nobleman might consider to take her, but he will undoubtedly find within the next few months that it takes more than a clearing house certificate marked O. K. and attached to the pretty American girl to accomplish his heart's desire. While the system may go in Italy, the girl herself has something to say in America.

Our client has for some time been an admirer of Miss Bogue, and he has not the least intention of giving up his suit to satisfy her. He is deeply concerned over the financial and moral standing of the girl, and he is in every way lived up to his honorable name and standards.

McKees Rocks under guard of state constabulary brought to Pittsburg for trial.

Pittsburg, Pa.—The rioters among the strikers at McKees Rocks have been taken from their box car prisons to Pittsburg for trial. In the excitement of the carnival of crime of Sunday night a riot broke out during which the officers were killed.

McKees Rocks strikers scurrying supplies at the commissary department. The "bread line" at McKees Rocks continues. The families sullen and morose gather at the temporary commissary department for the supplies of the day allotted each striker. This will have to stop shortly and the destitution which will follow will be appalling.

Convict Wife Prison Warden's Wife, Mrs. Emma Allman Tompkins W. F. Gordon.

San Francisco.—The arrest here of W. F. Gordon, a former convict, revealed a story of love and intrigue and the crushing of a wife's affections. With Gordon at the time of his arrest was Mrs. Emma A. Tompkins, wife of Major John W. Tompkins, former warden of San Quentin prison, and she was living with Gordon in his wife, Mrs. Tompkins is a handsome woman of 35, while Gordon is 10 years her junior. The former convict is accused of passing a worthless check. The friendship between Gordon and Mrs. Tompkins began when Gordon was a prisoner at San Quentin, serving a term for embezzlement. He was a trusty, and being a graduate of an eastern college and a

LOST!

The greatest opportunity of a lifetime is LOST if you do not look into the offer I am making today.

I will sell to you, your choice of a tract of Clark county, Wisconsin, farm or timber, in tracts from 40 acres upwards, for $12.50 per acre on terms of one-quarter cash down.

This land is located just a little north of here, affording excellent markets. The crops produced are unexcelled.

We show you the land in an automobile, free of charge.

The best way to reach the land is to take the midnight train from Janesville, returning the following evening.

Clark County lies right in our midst and is noted for its fine wagon roads, railroads, school, creameries and cheese factories.

The land is level and the soil the very best.

Grasp this opportunity while you have a chance. Invest now—TODAY. Don't put it off.

Hetty Green's son bound to take an alibi back with him to Texas. C. F. Willard the latest sensation among the alibi pilots, and Hetty Green's son, Edward M. Green, watching Willard breaking records.

Mineola, L. I.—While C. F. Willard, the week's sensation among alibi pilots, was breaking speed records here this week one of the most interested spectators was "Ed" Green, son of the famous Hetty Green.

Green has come north to make his mother a brief visit, but primarily to purchase an alibi, he was the first man to introduce an automobile into Texas and he intends to be the first man to own an alibi in the state. He states positively he is going to take an aeroplane back with him to Texas.

While Green was greatly pleased with Willard's successful experiments and demonstrations he has not as yet decided to take the Curtiss alibi, which Willard drove, although it is understood negotiations are in progress for one.

DALLINGER PINCHOT
WHICH WILL LOSE HIS HEAD?
RICHARD DALLINGER, SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR, AND FORD PINCHOT, CHIEF FORESTER.

Washington, D. C.—President Taft is determined to sift the Pinchot-Dallinger controversy to the limit and find out who is at fault. It is freely rumored that one or the other may lose his official head as the result of this investigation. The interior department is working night and day to prepare the report desired by President Taft in connection with the Canning ham land deals of Alaska.

J.M. BOSTWICK & SONS.

The Cool Days This Week Have Reminded Many People of Fall Goods

Following the thought along, the people who read The Gazette naturally think of The Big Store in connection with large assortments of new fall goods. As they have been reminded several times of late that we have received over $20,000 worth of fall and winter goods in all departments, we venture to say as many new goods as any other three stores in Southern Wisconsin.

Ready to Wear Garments

are selling well with us. Rack after rack of the newest styles in suits, skirts, coats.

Shirtwaists

are selling well. All the new things to select from.

Furs

are here for the early buyers. Over $3,000 worth.

Rugs, Carpets, Linoleum

We have been receiving the new fall patterns since June. Every size and all the leading makes in Rugs.

Curtains

This is a great department with us. We buy direct from the mills. People have learned that they can do considerably better on curtains here than elsewhere.

Dress Goods

Fall shipments are arriving. We can take care of your wants.

Silks

No one hereabouts can deny our supremacy. The ordinary merchant is staggered at the showing we make.

In other lines, such as underwear, wash goods, domestics, hosiery, white goods, trimmings, gloves, neckwear, lace, ribbons, corsets, velvets, linings, outing flannels, blankets, muslin underwear, draperies, knit goods, jewelry and hair ornaments, table linens and napkins, yarns, batting, feathers and pillows, etc., we show a world of fresh arrivals. COME TO HEADQUARTERS.
